

DETERMINANTS OF LOAN REPAYMENT AMONG WOMEN-OWNED ENTERPRISES IN KENYA: A CASE OF ELDORET MUNICIPALITY

BY

SANGORO OSCAR ONYANGO

ELD/B/MBA/211/00864

A research project Submitted in Partial Fulfilment for the Degree of Masters of Business Administration of Mount Kenya University

Mount Kenya University
LIBRARY

August, 2011

HG2156 .O59 2011

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Many individuals have made tremendous contributions to this study. A few of them deserve mentioning and congratulations. Foremost I thank the Almighty God for His Love and Care that saw me through this study.

In Stature of my perspicacity, I acknowledge my Supervisor Dr. Pamela Ochieng because she gave me the opportunity to research under her guidance and supervision. I am most grateful and deeply indebted for the tangible help and guidance they fundamentally imparted in my work and for giving me their valuable time to guide me throughout my Higher Education. I have been fortune to have them as my mentors, because they helped to make my dreams come true. I am deeply indebted to their mentoring, encouragement, support and discipline. I will always treasure their friendship; I thank you all for your teachings and giving me higher mind!

I do express in a special esteem, much gratitude to my colleagues and my fellow class mates for their encouragements, support and teamwork they exhibited all along. The ideas could elaborated, could not have been developed without discussions with likeminded individuals. Only by making our knowledge available to others so that they can build on that knowledge and move it another step, forward.

I would not be able to forget the women entrepreneurs in Eldoret municipality and credit officers in Eldoret municipality for their cooperation during data collection process; this enabled me to complete the project as scheduled.

Finally, this acknowledgement would be rendered impartial if I do not convey my sincere gratitude to my family at large. It's a great measure of humility to thank you for your love, support and serenity. I am truly blessed and honored to have you as my family.