

EFFECTS OF PUBLIC PROCUREMENTS AND DISPOSAL ACT 2005 ON PROCUREMENT PROCESSES IN PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS IN KENYA.(A OF CASE
STUDY OF INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION-NAIROBI

BY

KAMAU NJUGUNA DENNIS

BBM/2013/52406

A Research Project Submitted To The Department Of Management, School Of Business
And Economics In Partial Fulfillment Of The Requirements For The Award Of Bachelors
Degree In Purchasing And Supplies Of Mount Kenya University.

February, 2016

ABSTRACT

The main objective of the study was used to analyze effects of public procurements and disposal act 2005 on procurement processes in public institutions in Kenya. The research was determined to find out transparency and accountability, efficiency and ethics influence the procurement process in industrial and commercial development corporation. The methodology that was used was the descriptive research design with target population of 60 respondents which comprised of the following departments: Manufacturing, Agro-processing, Transport and the Energy. The sample design adopted was stratified random sampling with a sample size of 30 respondents. Questionnaires were used and lastly the data collected was analyzed quantitatively and qualitatively and presented in form of pie charts using Ms- Excel. The findings of the study were: Public Procurement and Disposal Act 2005 influence on transparency and accountability on procurement processes by 82%. the public Procurement and Disposal Act 2005 promoted ethics on procurement processes indicated by 80%. Public Procurement and Disposal Act 2005 contributed to improved efficiency on procurement by 80% response. It was concluded that Public Procurement and Disposal Act 2005 ensured the flexibility of dealing with complexities in the procurement processes. Ethics in procurement processes were promoted by the Public Procurement and Disposal Act 2005. It was recommended that the rules, regulations and laws relating to transparency and accountability in procurement processes should be applied in the corporation, ethics prescribed in the Public Procurement And Disposal Act 2005 should be adhered to and efficiency should be ensured in procurement processes of all the departments in the corporation. It was further suggested that Future researchers should carry out a research that is having a correlation with other corporations to have a clear view of the role of the public procurement Act 2005 in the procurement processes.