ABSTRACT

The study primarily focused on the challenges faced by most vulnerable children in public primary schools in Mukurweini South zone in Nyeri County. It also investigates the causes of MVCs in the zone, effects of MVCs grants to schools and then identify intervention strategies for supporting the MVCs. The findings of the study will help the stakeholders i.e. parents, teachers, the community to improve academic results in the zone. The study employed case study research design and will use questionnaires to collect data from the sampled schools in the zone. The findings are also used to make conclusions and recommendations that might help the Government, schools and the community at large to change their attitude towards the MVCs and offer help to them.
