ABSTRACT

The researcher carried out a study to investigate the relationship between alcoholism/alcohol abuses among the youths leading to increase in criminal activities in Ruiru. The purpose of the study was to establish the role of alcohol abuse amongst the youths in Ruiru town, Kiambu County where there is increase in crimes such as murder, theft, rape burglary, etc.

The sources of literate reviews were both primary and secondary for example journals, internet, books in library, government documents etc. The researcher also used the convenient/voluntarily sampling techniques, case study and descriptive design to collect and analyze data. Interviews and questionnaires were used to collect data and the data collected was analyzed through comparison of raw data.

The study findings were represented graphically; the study aims at minimizing the cause of alcoholism through introduction of stringent measures and amending the laws to enable the society to be a crime free zone/environment.
