ABSTRACT

It is evident that majority of ECDE Centers have recently registered an increase of the pupils since the introduction of school feeding programme not only in Mathioya district but also the whole of Kenya .

The purpose of this study was to determine the effects of a school feeding programme on enrollment of ECDE Centers in Kiru zone .Murang'a County .

The selected schools represented the rest in the district in that each category was represented and various social economic backgrounds were reflected

The respondents who participated in the research included school administration and the teaching staffs

For the purpose of primary data collection questionnaires were used for each group of respondents .

Data was analyzed and presented in tables and bar graphs and then, a conclusion was drawn based on the results .
