ABSTRACT

The study aimed at investigating the major causes of indiscipline in secondary schools. This was in reference to Mwingi Division in Mwingi District. The data was collected from ninety six (96) respondents by use of questionnaires. The data was analysed by use of frequency distributions and percentages.

The findings revealed that there are many cases of indiscipline in schools which are caused by improper guidance and canceling, laxity of the administration as well as permissiveness in the society.

The research recommended that the teachers should use amicable and understanding ways in solving discipline problems. These ways range from having proper strict laid down rules and regulations, use of appraisals, being example and costly discipline through understanding and consideration.
