ABSTRACT

The purpose of this research will be to investigate the influence of school based factors on education in Uplands Unit in Kiambu County. The objectives of the study will be able to identify the school based factors and determine their influence on learning. The study will be descriptive survey design and data collection instruments will include questionnaires and documentary guides. Random sampling will be used and data will be analyzed using frequently tables and graphs. Despite the introduction of FPE by the government, academics performance in Uplands Unit remains a challenge in the area. Therefore, there is a need to carry out this investigation on the influence of school based factors on academic failure.
